

AUGUST KEEP SOIL COVERED

Ohio Farmers are increasingly turning to no-till and cover crops to improve their soil health. Gardeners can benefit from reduced tillage and planting cover crops as well. Planting a mixed seed variety in late August and early September will help retain soil nutrients throughout winter and early spring.